IV.

FACTS

- 4.1. Matthew Allen and his wife Teddie Allen decided to invest their retirement savings in a manner that would provide them with a secure, steady stream of income for their remaining years. In November 2009 the Allens were advised to invest $1,100,000 in a scheme called the Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program. The Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program was created and marketed by Defendants.

- 4.2. Defendants represented to the Allens that they would receive a certain return on their investment, that the law firm of Kiesling, Porter, Kiesling & Free, P.C. would act as an escrow agent to safeguard and preserve the funds invested by the Allens, and that Defendants Retirement Value, L.L.C., Gray and Rogers would have no control over how such funds are used, and that another company, Midwest Medical Review, would provide reliable life expectancy estimates for the various insureds of the relevant policies. In reliance upon those representations, the Allen CRAT entered into a Policy Participation Agreement with Defendant Retirement Value, LLC whereby the Allen CART invested $1.1 million towards the purchase of ten life insurance policies and in return the Allen CRAT was named as an irrevocable co-beneficiary in those ten insurance policies owned by Defendant Retirement Value, LLC.
- 4.3. Defendants did not disclose to the Allens that Defendant Dick Gray had previously and repeatedly engaged in illegal sales of securities through fraudulent investment schemes, the exorbitant fees and commissions that they were going to receive from the Allens' investment, that the owner of Defendant Midwest Medical Review, George Kindness, was a convicted felon, and that the Allens' investment in the Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program could constitute a "security" under Texas law and that Retirement Value, L.L.C. was not issuing the "security" in accordance with such statutes.

V.

CAUSES OF ACTION

A. NEGLIGENCE

- 5.1. Paragraphs 4.1 through 4.3 are incorporated herein.
- 5.2. Defendants owed a legal duty to Intervenor to act with reasonable care, skill, and diligence as an ordinarily prudent person or company would act under the same or similar circumstances. Defendants were also negligent in making the misrepresentations described above and in failing to disclose the matters described above. Defendants were also negligent in participating and aiding in the sale, marketing and administration of the Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program.

B. VIOLATION OF TEXAS SECURITIES ACT.

- 5.3. Paragraphs 4.1 through 4.3 are incorporated herein.
- 5.4. Intervenor asserts that the investments in the Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program is a “security” within the meaning of the Texas Securities Act, Art. 581 et seq., Texas Revised Civil Statutes. Defendants are liable to Intervenor for violation of the Texas Securities Act because they (a) offered or sold investments in the Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program by means of an untrue statement of a material fact or an omission to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading, (b) directly or indirectly control a seller or issuer of the Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program, and/or (c) directly or indirectly, with intent to deceive or defraud or with reckless disregard for the truth or the law, materially aided a seller or issuer of the investments in the Re-Sale Life Insurance Policy Program. As such, all of the Defendants are jointly and severally liable for the damages suffered by Intervenor.

VI.

DAMAGES

- 6.1. The damages to Intervenor caused by all of the Defendants' actions are within the jurisdictional limits of this Court.
- 6.2. Defendants' acts, omissions, representations, misrepresentations, and failure to disclose were the proximate and/ or producing cause of Intervenor's damages and Intervenor seek all actual, compensatory, consequential and special damages as a result thereof. These damages include but are not limited to the loss of the monies they invested, the return on such investment that they were guaranteed, costs of court, and mental anguish damages.
- 6.3. Intervenor pleads exemplary damages from Defendants because the negligence committed by Defendants constitutes gross negligence.

VII.

JURY DEMAND

Intervenor demands a jury trial and has tendered the appropriate fee.

PRAYER

For these reasons, Intervenor asks that the Defendants be cited to appear and answer, and that Intervenor have judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally, for:

- 7.1. Actual, special, compensatory, consequential and economic damages;
- 7.2. Mental anguish damages;
- 7.3. Exemplary and punitive damages;

- 7.4. Pre-judgment and post-judgment interest as allowed by law;
